Hello John,

I'm Phil Mann, from Ontario, Canada, and I'm doing some research into my GODDARD links. Anne Offor, put me on to you as a possible source of help, so I'm writing in hope!

My link comes from my maternal, Great Grandmother, Susan GODDARD, born 30 Nov 1853, in Frimley, Surrey. Her father was Thomas GODDARD, born about 1814, in Jersey, who married Sarah CHATT, in Frimley on 07 May 1837. Having said that, as Frimley appears to have been thick with GODDARD's, his parents may have been there for some reason and returned to Surrey after his birth???

Any assistance or suggestions would be greatly appreciated.

Best wishes

Phil

Dear Phil

Sorry not to have replied earlier. I've been looking into your problem without success. I can't find any reason why Thomas should have been born in Jersey. It's not a place where there is any strong Goddard settlement. I've also looked at the 1881 census for Frimley where, as you say, there are lots of Goddard families but none of them with an apparent Channel Islands connection or any occupation that might be connected with the sea. One thing that does strike me is the date of birth - 1814 - a time when we were at war against the French in the shape of Napoleon and may have had a garrison on Jersey. And Frimley is bang in the middle of an area which has long military connections, half way between Aldershot, a garrison town and Sandhurst, the army officer training college. Two of the Frimley Goddards in 1881 were college servants which I presume is Sandhurst college. This might be a lead you can follow up.

If you are interested in joining the Goddard Association our web page is at www.goddard-association.co.uk and we have a Canadian representative in Toronto who will be happy to hear from you - pgoddard@interlog.com

Look forward to hearing further, regards, John
