FREEMEN OF THE CITY OF LEICESTER

1836-1930

My sister very kindly copied out the list of Goddard names from the above book. The entries are given in the following manner:

Arthur, junr., of Oadby, F.W.K. [framework knitter], 3 s. [third son] of Arthur who was 3 s. of Jonathan, 31 July 1837.

It should be possible to build up family trees from the information given, but it is not.

However it appears that the Goddard family of Oadby were meticulous in getting their rights as freemen recorded just as soon as male members of the family became eligible. The same applies to the Goddard architect family of Leicester.

I have sent details to those to whom the list might be of interest, but if I have missed you out do let me know,

Julie of Newbury

I understand that you are a member of the guild of one-name studies for the surname of GODDARD.

I am researching my maiden name of POPPLE and have discovered that my great aunt married a GODDARD. I just wondered whether you have heard of him? If you have, I would be grateful for any information. If you haven't then I shall endeavour to let you know anything I discover in the future!

Samuel GODDARD born about 1877

He married Edith POPPLE (probably in the Dec Q 1897 in Leicester.)

Samuel died, aged 21 and was buried at Welford Road cemetery in Leicester on 7 October, 1898.

I appreciate there aren't many details and it's a shot in the dark, but in my experience a 'shot in the dark' can sometimes be the luckiest break!

Many thanks. Karin Haigh
