Dear Julie

Did your friend have any luck with my Philip Goddard from Laverstock?

I have been looking at my Robert Goddard from Kelsale and wondering if the name changed from Garrod. Do you keep similar records for names like Goddard? I would be interested for those in Kelsale.

My only other thought is the record that mentions Dorothy- a widow of Nicholas in the Parish records of Kelsale. I see there is a Nicholas Goddard born 1715 in Dennington which is not that far away but no records of a marriage. I liked the idea of this Nicholas because his father was a Robert! But I am just clutching at straws and I may have to accept that this is as far as I am going to get.

Hope all is well.

Dear Mr Goddard

Thank you so much for your letter. I do hope we can share our research and are able to help each other, especially as I have been stuck for many years now searching for the baptism of a William Goddard, who was born 1759/61. My earliest record is the marriage of William Goddard (he died in Heckingham, Norfolk, 1841 and was buried in Aldeby, Norfolk), so I shall give a brief account of the information I have obtained. I have used capital letters to show the line of descent.

WILLIAM GODDARD married Ann Spalding 1783, in Aldeby, Norfolk. WILLIAM GODDARD, widower, married Ann Alkins 1788. They had the following children, all baptised in Aldeby, Norfolk. Maria bp 1789, WILLIAM bp 1791, Rachel bp 1792, George bp 1797, Eleanor bp 1802, Martin bp 1804 and John bp 1807.

WILLIAM GODDARD married Phebe Barber 1810 at Kirkley Parish Church, Suffolk and they had the following children, all baptised in Lowestoft, Suffolk. George 1810, William bp 1812, Eleanor bp 1814, Caroline bp 1816 and died 1816, William bp 1817 and CHARLES FREDERICK, born 1820 and baptised 1827.

CHARLES FREDERICK GODDARD married Elizabeth Drew at St Leonards Church, Shoreditch, London, 1840. I have found my family of Goddards on the 1841-1891 census and they lived in Stepney, Mile End Old Town, West Ham and Kensington.

It would be great if you have come across any of my family during your research, or may be I can help you in some way as I have accumulated quite a lot of information on Goddards over the years.

Looking forward to hearing from you.

Best wishes

Patricia Lee

GODDARD spelling variations in Suffolk

As we all know the various regions of Britain have their own distinctive dialect / accent. The East Anglia region was no different. A couple of years ago on the Norfolk Mailing List on the internet the subject of the Norfolk dialect was discussed. One comment that sticks in my memory was that the Norfolk dialect rivaled the Scottish, thus illustrating the difficulty that outsiders would have had in understanding the local dialect. So it is no wonder that Oxford educated Vicars, most likely from another County, at times made a pig's breakfast of spelling our ancestor's names.

The following variations are in my opinion variations of the GODDARD name in Suffolk records :-

GODDWARD, GODWARD, GODHERD, GODHARD, GARRAD, GORID, GORRID, GARROD, GARROD, GORRARD, GORRORD, GORROD, GORWOOD, GARWOOD.

It would seem that the rural Suffolk accent was a guttural one?, that made it hard to distinguish the "D" and "R". (mmm you are saying!). Well I give the following examples of what I feel is evidence of my theories on the above variants :-

Barnham (Suffolk) Parish Register :-

baptisms

1771 Edm, son of Edm & Ann Margueta GORROD

1774 Will, son of Edm & Anna Margueta Maria GODDARD

Undoubtedly the same parents.

Barningham (Suffolk) Parish Register :-

baptisms

1770 Ann d. of John & Rachel GODDARD

1772 Esther d. of John & Rachel GORROD

Again one family. There were 5 baptisms for this couple nicely spaced from 1763 to 1776 with the first three spelt GODDARD and the last two GORROD.

Ingham (Suffolk) Parish Register

Marriages

1743 Jacob GORWOOD & Ester CLARKE

I suspect that this is the marriage of my Jacob Goddard & Ester ancestors for the following reasons :-

- Gorwood is not a name that otherwise appears in the Suffolk records that I have found so far;
- The combination of first names of Jacob & Ester is not common;
- The marriage took place 8 months prior to the baptism of Jacob & Ester's first child in Little Livermere;
- Ingham is adjacent to Livermere, being on the other side of Ampton Water;
- and no other recognizable marriage event can be found for the couple in Boyd's marriage index for Suffolk, which for the year is almost 100% complete for that County.
